

UNLIMITED RESILIENCE TRAINING FOR ONE FIXED PRICE

Prep your employees to face uncertainty with Resilience Training

Businesses are being forced to adapt to a new kind of “normal.” In addition to usual work stressors, employees are operating with immediate concerns for their health and safety, while simultaneously dealing with a transformed work structure and environment.

YOUR EMPLOYEES ARE STRESSED

This level of change puts our body and brain on high alert, intensifying negative emotions and causing us restless nights and unproductive days. Mental Health America states that 58 percent of US workers are anxious in the face of the global pandemic. Further, almost two in five report that this anxiety is interfering with their workplace productivity, while one in four state that it is negatively impacting the quality of their work.
